René Prin was born on January 15, 1905 in Mortery, Seine-et-Marne. He led a discreet but passionate life, dividing his time between cooking at the family restaurant La Mère Corbeau and his true vocation: painting. Influenced by post-impressionism, he received advice from his friend Maximilien Luce, which influenced some of his works produced at Rolleboise. He painted mainly in oils, on canvas, cardboard or panel, and his paintings often capture scenes of rain, villages
