Description

Beautiful mahogany bouillotte table, Louis XVI style, resting on four tapered and fluted legs, finished with a bronze shoe. *The belt is decorated with quarter-round rods and small brass threads inlaid on the connecting dice. It has two drawers and two pulls covered with brown leather. The whole is topped with white marble, veined and surrounded by an openwork brass gallery. Beautiful manufacture from the end of the 19th century. Note, some small stains on the leather of one of the pulls, due to its use (see photo).
