Description

Elegant rectangular liqueur cellar, in richly veined walnut burl, threaded frames and beveled glass on two sides. It opens with a flap revealing a complete service composed of 4 cut decanters with stoppers and 12 matching glasses, arranged on a gilded bronze tray. Small turned feet in blackened wood. French work from the Napoleon III period. Very good condition of conservation, complete service (except two glasses which are not from the same collection but from the same period) and without chip.
