Description

This magnificent palm tree table lamp is one of Maison Jansen's most iconic creations from the 1970s, designed by Christian Techoueyres. Primarily made of polished brass, this lamp exudes a true aura of glamour. What makes Jansen's palm tree creations so special is the refined detailing found in each element. The shaft is composed of bamboo adorned at its base and top with brass accents, giving the whole a botanical yet sculptural character. The lamp consists of four tiers of leaves, carefully crafted from brass. Between these leaves, the light sources are subtly integrated, giving the impression that the warm light appears elegantly and mysteriously. A dazzling centerpiece that enriches any interior with the Parisian splendor of the 1970s.
