Description

Pair of gilt bronze andirons, Louis XVI style
Superb pair of gilt bronze andirons, made at the end of the 19th century in the Louis XVI style. Each element is richly decorated with lions' heads, flaming vases and finely chiseled classical motifs. The andirons are connected by a decorative openwork bar, featuring an elegant decoration of scrolls and foliage. The claw-shaped feet add a noble and refined character to the whole. A high-quality decorative piece, ideal for completing a classical-style fireplace and bringing a touch of elegance to your interior. Period: Late 19th century
Material: Gilt bronze
Dimensions: Height: 60 cm
Width: 30 cm
Depth: 14 cm
Bar: Height 10 cm x Length 73 cm
