Fantastic hand-carved Black Forest mirror. Original from Germany. Circa 1900. Frame richly decorated with branches, leaves, and bunches of grapes. Black Forest refers to a style of furniture originating in the Black Forest region of southwest Germany. Known for its traditional craftsmanship and designs, this style often features rustic, hand-carved wooden pieces with intricate detailing. This style is characterized by the use of dark, rich woods, such as oak, and the designs often incorporate elements from nature, such as floral motifs, animals, and woodland themes. One of the most well-known examples of Black Forest furniture is the cuckoo clock, which originated in this region. In addition to clocks, Black Forest furniture also includes cabinets, chairs, tables, and other household furniture,
