Description

A knightly duel - a scene full of dynamism and tension. One of the knights crouches on one leg while the other tries to unbalance his opponent. In addition, he grabs his opponent by the belt and points the blade of his sword in his direction. The standing knight prepares to strike with his axe, while trying to hold back his rival's forward leg. The sculpture impresses with its richness of detail. 19th century. Patinated bronze, stone base. Dimensions: 33 cm x 33 cm x 18 cm. Good condition.
