Description

Half-moon table with triple top in Cuban mahogany, circa 1790, second half of the 18th century, Paris. It has its half-moon top for console presentation and opens onto a mahogany top for the second and a game top in green felt. This style of table is a classic of the Louis XVI style. The mahogany burl veneered belt is decorated with brass frames. It rests on five tapered legs with brass-trimmed fluting and finished with casters. The fifth leg is attached to a drawer that opens to serve as a support once the flap is unfolded. Large model, serving as a console table, dining room and game table. The belt is in mahogany and decorated with copper and brass either by a plaque or fillet decoration. Furniture highly prized at the end of the 18th century both for its quality of execution and for its practical and
