Description

Well-preserved Gardner Moscow tea cup and saucer, c.1880. Deep cobalt ground with hand-painted floral medallions, gilt scrollwork and white arabesques; a small rose painted inside the cup. Printed factory mark "??????? ?????? ?? ??????" No 4 beneath the Moscow arms on both pieces; red hand-painted "128" to cup base. Founded in 1766 by Francis Gardner, the factory became a leading supplier to the Imperial Court and is noted for precise enamelling. This teacup and saucer are highly collectible, reflecting the refinement of late 19th-century Russian porcelain.
