Origin:

A magnificent French chandelier from the Napoléon III era, featuring signed crystal décor by the Baccarat Crystal Works.

History of Baccarat:

In 1764, King Louis XV granted Louis-Joseph de Montmorency-Laval, Bishop of Metz, permission to establish a glassworks in the village of Baccarat in Lorraine.

In 1824, Ismaël Robinet, a glassworker from Baccarat, invented a piston-driven air pump that facilitated glass blowing. The following year, Baccarat developed the pressed-molded technique.

In 1855, Baccarat participated in the first Paris World's Fair, showcasing two candelabras and a monumental chandelier.

On October 29, 1860, Baccarat registered its trademark at the Paris Commercial Court: a carafe, a stemmed glass, and a goblet inscribed in a circle. Initially printed on a paper label, the hallmark was later engraved directly onto the piece.

Baccarat crystal is of excellent quality, containing no less than 31.7% lead, with no defects, and a high level of craftsmanship. The Baccarat Crystal Works spans generations while remaining a symbol of French art de vivre.
