Description

Ciriaco Denza, "Portrait of Luigi Denza," oil on canvas, signed, 1880. Oil painting on canvas by Ciriaco Denza, signed upper left C. Denza 1880. The work depicts Luigi Denza, a famous Neapolitan composer best known for the song "Funiculì Funiculà," written in 1880 and which became an anthem of nineteenth-century Naples. The character is depicted with a pensive and concentrated expression, sitting on a wooden chair with turned knobs. He is wearing period clothing with a dark hat and holding a violin in his hands, while in front of him is a book (probably a musical score). The scene highlights the musician's sensitivity and artistic dedication. Style: The painting is executed with realistic strokes and attention to detail, typical of nineteenth-century genre painting.
