Description

This miniature is a small fixed under glass from the 19th century, it represents a battle scene. Executed by hand, it is of great finesse. It is not signed but probably the hand of an artist. We note a small detachment of paint at the top and bottom (difficult to take a photo of it). The frame is made of natural wood (note a crack on the top of the frame). There is a small support which holds it well. The whole remains very presentable, the small detachment or small heating of paint, can be seen when you turn the miniature in the sun, when you are facing it you do not notice it. For the condition, please detail the photos. The photos are an integral part of the description.
