Rare German Ceremonial Dagger, 16th Century

20 000 EUR

Period : 16th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Metal

Length : 42 cm

Description

Rare Ceremonial German Bone Dagger 16th CenturyThe hilt is comprised of a set of straight quillons and are completely made of deer bone.The bone fittings are richly and masterfully engraved, the guard fitting have a crack making it slightly loose.A box accompanies this dagger which is probably from the 19th century.The blade of this dagger is incredible with engravings inlaid with copper with the crosses of the Teutonic order and written in Archaic. This seems to indicate the blade may be older perhaps from the medieval period.The scabbard is comprised of two individual bone pieces of deer expertly carved and made to match, they screw into one another.The condition overall is of museum condition.This speaks volumes about the craftsman and smiths who made this piece of

Dealer

Antiques Armoury
Antiques and Collectables
Tel : 0035699849540

Triq Enrico Naudi
L'iklin IKL Malta 1641

art.Specifications:Overall Length 48 CMDagger 42
CMhttps://antiquesarmoury.com/product/16th-ce ntury-german-bone-dagger-2/