Description

Japanese vases, Imperial Meiji 19th (1868-1912), purple-mauve color (uncommon) Samurai decor, painted, enameled in relief with gold decor.

Handcrafted, the vases have the same subjects but slightly different (painted freehand). Japanese vases were very popular in Europe after the 1857 World's Fair in Paris. The individualized scrolling decor allows you to modify the decorative appearance of the vases by simple rotation. Very decorative by their colors, adaptable to the top of the lamp base, in good general condition.
