Description

Carved and gilded wooden candlestick with a cherub figure - 18th century This refined vintage candlestick is crafted from carved wood, gilded with gold leaf, and hand-decorated, and likely dates back to the 18th century. The structure is embellished with the figure of a winged cherub, sculpted with great attention to detail, in an elegant and dynamic pose. The cherub supports the upper part of the candlestick, which features leaf motifs and a three-legged base richly decorated with floral elements. The gold leaf gilding, although showing natural signs of age, still retains much of its original luster, lending the piece an authentic charm and a precious patina. The base rests on a red velvet stand, adding further elegance to the piece. Condition: Good overall condition, missing a
