Description

Elegant and rare small Chinese cabinet dating from the mid-19th century, made of solid wood and finely hand-carved. The doors and panels are richly decorated with floral and naturalistic motifs in relief, traditional symbols of prosperity and harmony in Chinese culture. The structure features two small drawers and four doors, with original finely worked brass fittings, still functional today. The shaped base with scroll motifs adds lightness and refinement to its compact form. With its warm patina and authentic charm, this cabinet is not only a decorative object but also a piece of history, suitable for both classic interiors and modern spaces as a refined accent piece. Period: mid-19th century (circa 1850-1870) Origin: China Material: carved solid wood, original brass fittings Dimensions: Height:
