Description

This hunting dagger or hunting knife is typical of 18th century manufactures. It is a weapon intended to serve large game (Deer, Roe Deer) due to the length of its blade. BLADE: It is single-edged, slightly curved and has a wide hollow part on each side. The tip ends in a "carp tongue". It is a Solingen manufacture. At the base of the blade there are remains of engravings typical of Solingen manufacturers, and on the first quarter of the blade, remains of very worn engravings, difficult to identify. Blade length = 53.3 cm, Width at the heel 2.7 cm, thickness at the heel = 6.7 mm GUARD = it is made of brass, with inverted quillons. HILT: Grip it is striated ivory, which has the classic cracks and small chips related to the age of the object. A brass ferrule with a small line decoration joins the
