Description

Pair of solid silver candelabras, Art Deco, Riesler for Delheid Elegant pair of two-branched candelabras in the Art Deco style, made of solid 800 thousandths silver. Their geometric silhouette, sober and refined, perfectly illustrates the modernist spirit of the 1930s. Each candelabra rests on a circular base supporting two arched arms, each adorned with a removable bobèche. They bear the Riesler mark, probably made for the house of Delheid in Belgium, a renowned house that willingly worked in second title. Their solid construction and their remarkable state of preservation make them collector's pieces that are both decorative and functional. Characteristics Silversmith / Brand: Riesler (for Delheid, Belgium) Title: Solid silver 800 ? Style: Art Deco Period: Circa 1930 Dimensions: height 17 cm
