Description

Arman (1928-2005) - Etching "Western Accumulation" (1979) Original etching by Arman, one of the masters of New Realism. Title: Western Accumulation Date: 1979 Limited edition of 100 copies - this proof is signed in pencil by the artist and bears the number 77/100. Dimensions: 91 x 63 cm Provenance: Galerie Ferrero Nice France In this characteristic work, Arman expresses his fascination for the accumulation of everyday objects, here diverted in a dynamic and powerful composition. Accumulation becomes a plastic language, a symbol of profusion and memory. In very good condition, this etching fits perfectly with the aesthetic of the artist, internationally renowned for his "accumulations" and "rages". > Possibility of custom framing at an additional cost. born Armand Fernandez on November 17, 1928 in Nice and died in New York on October 22, 2005, is a Franco-American artist, painter, sculptor and visual artist, known for his "accumulations" and his "angers". He was one of the first to directly use, as pictorial material, manufactured objects, which represented for him the multiple and infinite extensions of the human hand which undergo a continuous cycle of production, consumption, destruction.
