Description

Very beautiful affiquet, two elements fitting together. It is entirely hand-carved with small stylized elements, and bells, so cute, attached using metal rings. The affiquet made it possible to prevent the stitches from slipping when interrupting your work, by fixing the needle on it, on the upper part. Great item, made from quality, rare to find! Good general condition, note a small missing bone "nail", and a tiny chip at the bottom. Well mentioned on my detailed photos, thank you for looking at them carefully, I am not hiding anything! European working, probably French, dating from the very beginning of the 19th century, or before. Circa 1800.
