Description

Stunning Quality 19th Century William IV Period Carved Rosewood Marble Top Console Table This well-proportioned early 19th-century William IV console table is a stunning example of craftsmanship. Its large rectangular top features a beautiful original beige/yellow veined marble, complemented by a wonderfully detailed hand-carved rosewood backsplash and foliated carved frieze. Intricate fretwork adds to its elegance. Supported by beautifully carved, tapering, bulbous reeded legs, the table boasts a serpentine concave base and a shaped mirrored back with carved surround moldings. The entire piece is raised on carved bun feet. High-quality figured rosewood is used throughout, resulting in a rich color and patina. The table is in superb condition and can be used as a sideboard or
