Description

Max Le Verrier (1891 - 1973) Object: night light combined with a pocket watch holder. Shape: pelican with open beak Material: art cast (alloy specific to Max Le Verrier, created as an alternative to bronze) Finish: dark green patina typical of the artist's creations Base: variegated green marble Electricity: bulb holder restored and secured by the specialized oldslighting workshop (plug, switch and 3m of new cable). Signature: Le Verrier directly cast in the metal (original model). Max Le Verrier is a master of Art Deco, known for his original casts, often animal or figurative, and his sophisticated patinas. The choice of a pelican is quite rare in his work, which makes this piece particularly interesting for collectors. Good condition with very slight signs of age (1925).
