These Regency bronze candlesticks rest on a large contoured base made up of steps, a quarter round and an ogee. The stem cast in shell, in three distinct parts, rests on a large umbilicus, it is in the form of a three-sided baluster. These three faces are chiseled, small leaf-shaped motifs, the sockets have six straight ribs engraved with flowers. The patina is superb and reflects the light as if they were gilded. One of the two seems to have a slight deformation, 18th century. Height 26 cm.
