Description

Vintage brooch representing a turtle, made of 585/°° rose gold (14 KT, scallop hallmark). Its body and shell are made of textured gold, while seven beautiful Australian opals adorn the shell, evoking the scales of the turtle. The opals, by their material, and their changing play of colors, as well as their irregular shape, suggest the organic world. These present iridescences of colors in a wide spectrum, including particularly prized reds and oranges. The eyes of the turtle are represented by two rubies of intense color. Its clasp is decorated with a rotating system to ensure its security. The format of this jewel allows it to be worn very versatile. The turtle is, in many cultures, an eminently positive symbol. Gross weight: 9.00 g Condition: imperceptible micro-scratches on the gold, opals in perfect
