Description

Introducing this "Eclisse" ceiling lamp, an iconic model of the Italian design of the 60s by Carlo Nason for Mazzega. Made of fine Murano glass, orange on the outside and white on the inside, obtained thanks to the processing technique called "vetro incamiciato". The lamp has a fantastic futuristic design that perfectly represents the space age period. Two circular glasses one inside the other that have the possibility of rotating creating fantastic plays of light. The optical effect of the light that meets the orange glass is surprising. The lamp, equipped with a light bulb, is in perfect condition with rewired electrical system. Perfect for being placed in a hallway, an entrance or any room of the house where it is necessary to insert a light with a futuristic and captivating design. This lamp is a
