Description

Contemporary ring in 750/°° yellow gold (18 KT, owl hallmark) Boucheron, in ribbon format, decorated in its center with a princess-cut diamond. This diamond cut has the same number of facets, or even more, than the brilliant cut, and therefore offers incomparable brilliance. The compact ring encloses the stone on both sides, and the diamond set in this way fits perfectly into the general lines of the ring. One detail, however, brings grace and lightness to this ring: on its profile, a sinuous recess visually frees the stone, to reveal its full volume. This curved effect also provides a nice contrast compared to the linear effect generated by the rectangular section ring and the square shape of the diamond. The jewel bears the Boucheron signature, the corresponding maker's mark and a numbering inside. This ring
