

Gold And Silver Marquise, 19th Century.

650 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Description

The silver tray mounted on a gold ring is made up of small fleurons set with marcasites, in the center is a peridot surrounded on either side by a small garnet and at each end a small peridot. I have always appreciated the shape of marquises, they flatter the hand by lengthening the fingers, they are particularly feminine and this one is no exception to the rule. This ring from the middle of the 19th century is in good condition, it has the charm of jewelry from the past, which were often offered as a token of love. Dimension of the tray 29 mm long, 15 mm wide. Finger size 52.
