Description

Bronze Buddha head resting on a wooden base. The surface has a beautiful dark and nuanced patina, a testament to its antiquity. The peaceful face, half-closed eyes and a slight inner smile, express the meditative serenity characteristic of Buddhist iconography. The elongated earlobes evoke detachment from material goods. The hair, finely curled and regular, is topped with the ushnisha, a symbol of spiritual elevation. Made in Thailand, between the kingdom of Sukhothai and the Ayutthaya period (16th-17th centuries), this sculpture illustrates the elegance and sobriety of Siamese Buddhist art. A harmonious piece, ideal for collectors or lovers of Asian art. Dimensions of the head: height: 7 cm width: 3 cm depth: 3.5 cm
