Description

Elegant multifunctional teak furniture, typical of 1960s Danish design, attributed to Børge Mogensen, a great name in Scandinavian modernism. Both a bedside table and a side table, this piece combines minimalist aesthetics and functionality, in the spirit of Nordic utilitarian design. The lines are clean, the proportions balanced, and the teak has a beautiful, warm, and natural honey patina. Its compact size makes it a practical piece, easy to integrate into a contemporary or vintage interior. It reflects Mogensen's design intelligence: apparent simplicity, but great design rigor. A fine example of mid-century Danish furniture, understated and elegant.
