Description

Large Louis XIII style dining room table in waxed and patinated wood. It rests on four legs ending in large flattened balls, they are connected together by an H-shaped spacer, the whole is entirely turned in a magnificent double torso work. The top is very overhanging and thus allows a large molding to decorate the entire belt, we note some small hard wax fillings on some cracks in the top, (see photo). Very beautiful work carried out at the beginning of the 20th century in solid ash. Note a small lack on one of the balls of the base, without any seriousness.
