Description

Minimalist design lamp model "Daphine" by Tommaso CIMINI for LUMINA 1974'sAn icon of Italian industrial design, the Daphine lamp was created in 1974 by Tommaso Cimini, founder of Lumina. Combining visible mechanics and sculptural sobriety, it embodies the philosophy "form follows function". Its articulated metal arm, its 360° swivel diffuser and its cast iron base make it a luminaire that is both precise and elegant. Daphine quickly established itself as a classic for the office and workshop, prized by architects and designers around the world. Still produced today, it demonstrates a timeless, technical and perfectly mastered design. Discover all our other products on our website: www.llantiquites.com
