Zbigniew Stanley Kupczynski (1928-2024) Polish-Canadian painter, Kupczynski established himself as a singular figure of Abstract Expressionism. Trained at the Academy of Fine Arts in Wroclaw, he initially faced censorship from the communist regime before making a name for himself on the international scene. Settling in Canada in the 1970s, he developed a vibrant and playful style, recognizable by his colorful portraits and miniatures painted on the noses of his characters.
