Description

Oil on canvas portrait depicting a handsome young blond boy with blue eyes. One can notice the delicacy of the features, the subtlety of the colors, the choice of shades in monochrome is of great delicacy. This portrait exudes an intimate atmosphere marked by modernity, very typical of the style of the immediate post-war period. The composition combines refined work on the complexion with a background rich in bluish nuances, enhanced with colorful decorative touches. The face of the young boy, luminous and expressive, captures the viewer's full attention. It is signed lower left, but I am unable to decipher the signature with certainty. One could read C. STRYJENSKI, (perhaps for Camille STRYIENSKI, born in 1875 and died in 1954, Polish painter), one thing is certain, it is dated
