Description

Gilded bronze plaques created by Yves Millecamps. Millecamps is a French artist and sculptor, known in particular for his work in geometric abstraction and his research on reliefs and materials. The inscriptions "today" and "tomorrow" that we see on your plaques fit perfectly into his style: a play between text, surface and geometric structure. These pieces are more works of art or decorative collectibles, made in a sculptural and architectural spirit. Some traces of wear Yves Millecamps is a French painter, sculptor and tapestry maker born in 1930. He belongs to the movement of geometric abstraction and constructivism. His work is marked by rigorous compositions, reliefs, plays of lines and surfaces, often in an aesthetic close to architecture and design.
