

A Boxwood And Ivory Okimono Of A Seated Man Drinking Sake

900 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Ivory

Width : 9 cm

Height : 8 cm

Depth : 7 cm

Description

A boxwood and ivory okimono depicting a seated man enjoying sake, the traditional Japanese beverage.

The figure, with a concentrated yet slightly inebriated expression, holds a small bowl in his right hand and a sake bottle in his left.

The face, hands, and feet are carved in ivory, contrasting with the warm tone of the boxwood used for the robes, which are finely engraved with floral motifs.

Period: Meiji, late 19th century

Dimensions: 8 × 9 × 7 cm

Condition: Excellent, with natural age lines in the ivory
