Description
-------------

A beautiful statue honoring the Emperor Julius Caesar proudly standing, young in combat gear with a decorated armored bustier, holding in his left hand the baton of command of the Legions, thumb raised. This pretty full bronze and beautiful retouching is a beautiful subject, elegant and full of pride, it is perched on a gray breccia marble in gratin, the very beautiful bare feet, and is very detailed. A piece of good decorative dimension with a rich symbol of Power. A beautiful idea of decoration, Imperial and Neo-classical spirit of good taste; the fact that the bronze is full is a meticulous concern to respect the models of the Antique and its dark patina a wish of sobriety for this subject rich in symbols, this Caesar has everything for him and the power to enter your living room or library, a real invader
