Description
-------------

Charming Italian terracotta altar presented in its gilded wooden frame in an arch with columns, chiseled with a beautiful retouch (gold leaf), Italy late 19th century. On a beautiful red opera velvet, this terracotta study represents a Gothic style altar with a pediment and pierced by an open niche, with sides decorated with columns, at the base the entablature decorated with a frieze. On the sides of the volutes in support decorate the returns, under the arched pediment a canopy suspended in pleated curtain. Of a beautiful shaded pink color, marbled, this small majestic architecture offers a decoration worthy of a "Cabinet of Curiosities" of good taste in good condition and strongly imbued with the Gothic style in all its most precious ...
