Description

Important Art Deco sculpture - Jules Edmond Masson (1871-1932) for Max Le Verrier Rare and elegant cast iron sculpture with a nuanced green patina, representing a pair of greyhounds, one attentive, the other with its head lowered in a realistic and graceful attitude. The composition highlights the finesse of the lines, the nobility and the elegance characteristic of these racing dogs, emblematic of the Art Deco taste. Work signed Masson, published by Max Le Verrier, a great name in Art Deco sculpture. France 20th century
