Zoomorphic Pitcher Amphora Austria - Early 20th Century

400 EUR

Signature : Amphora

Period : 20th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Ceramic

Height : 28 cm

Description

Elegant glazed ceramic pitcher, made by the Amphora workshops in Austria at the beginning of the 20th century. The piece features an original shape with zoomorphic decoration, with a stylized bird's head serving as a spout and a body adorned with raised plant motifs. The glaze in brown, green, and turquoise tones adds depth and richness to the whole. A fine example of the Viennese Art Nouveau style, combining naturalist inspiration and decorative fantasy. Height: 28 cm. Good condition.
