Description

Vintage Junghans table clock with white painted case; it has a round dial with Arabic numerals and surrounded by a brass bezel. The case has two vertical sculpted friezes and a small slit in the front. It dates back to the first decades of the 1900s; on the dial in a star appears the mark Jhungans relating to the German watchmaking manufacture. The clock mechanism does not work and therefore needs to be revised. The key is missing.
