Description

Set of three elegant cut crystal liqueur decanters, finely hand-cut and dating from the Victorian era.

Two of the decanters feature hand-painted porcelain medallions, displaying the name of the liqueur framed by a delicate garland of flowers and foliage. The third decanter bears a enameled metal label, similarly decorated with floral motifs and inscribed "Port". The set is in very good condition: the crystal is bright and intact, with only a slight haze at the bottom of two decanters and minor internal chips on the stoppers' rims, which do not affect the appearance or usability.
