Description

The work is presented unrestored, note some losses on the frame, wear and friction in places on the painting, we point out that the panel is warped. Jean-Baptiste Berré (1777-1839) is a Flemish painter and sculptor. Initially a landscaper and still life painter, he settled in 1808 in Paris, where he became the official animal painter of the Jardin du Roi. Berré devoted himself mainly to animal painting after his installation in Paris. His production, composed of farm animals and wild animals studied from nature at the Jardin des Plantes, was collected by wealthy amateurs from all over Europe who appreciated the perfection of his talent of execution. Our photos allow you to appreciate the quality of the work. For the condition, please detail the photos. Do not hesitate to zoom in. The
