Description

This is a beautiful and sophisticated piece of 20th-century furniture. 1970s Italian design is distinctive and evident in this rectangular coffee table. Made with minimalist cylindrical chromed metal legs and a smoked glass top. Its lines and qualities are very similar to those of designer Marco Zanuso for Zanotta, but it bears no labels or trademarks. The table has two small defects on the glass top, but these do not detract from its overall beauty. This coffee table is a perfect addition to a modern living room, embodying the quality and innovative design typical of 1970s Italian furniture and will become the focal point of your living room.
