Description

Elegant gilt bronze clock with double patina depicting a graceful allegory of the Sea. The goddess, crowned with flowers and in a dreamy attitude, is seated on a rock, leaning on an anchor symbolizing stability and maritime security. At her side, a cornucopia overflows with fruit and flowers, evoking fertility and abundance. The whole rests on a finely chiseled bronze base, decorated with a trireme similar to that of Ulysses, surmounted by a cup filled with flowers, the whole crowned with a floral garland. The dial adorned with a delicate floral garland, completes this harmonious and refined ensemble. French work. Circa 1830
