Description

Oil on paper representing a study of a female character. Signed lower right Robert Rayne. The gesture is spontaneous, thus obtaining beautiful effects of light and transparency. By this technique of wash he says when speaking of "his women", "I give them, unlike marble or bronze which freeze them, lightness, flexibility, I put them in weightlessness." Biography Robert Rayne is a French painter and sculptor born in Orange in the Vaucluse in 1938, he rubbed shoulders with the greatest (Paul Belmondo, Ossip Zadkine) and exhibited in numerous galleries. He painted and drew live models in Montparnasse, at the Grande Chaumière in Paris, always very inspired by female models. Period: second part of the 20th century Condition: Good condition, wear of use on the frame Dimensions with frame: 66.5 x 52.5
