Description

Rare small mastery of a Louis XV style two-drawer chest of drawers, inlaid with rosewood, paired with its bronzes and top in a beautiful red veined marble, from the 19th century stamped A Bel. This charming little piece of furniture, faithful to its elders, is in good condition and very well executed with its thick, well-varnished rosewood mounted in cross vein. With a pretty belly with eventful sides and arched feet, everything is there for this charming object of curiosity, quality and proportion, the young cabinetmaker signed his work "A Bel" with his stamp, because he can be proud of the result and deserves his mastery as a cabinetmaker, he worked well, a beautiful and well-made exercise in good condition and proud of his work, bravo A Bel
