Two vases with pure, organic shapes and lines, inspired by marine forms. The white enamel is pearly like a shell and the black has iridescent reflections which come from the decomposition of the light on the reflection of the enamel on the deep black background. The slender and non-centered shape of the vases gives by rotation very different shapes depending on the orientation. The production of the ceramics of the VERCERAM range was made in a factory in Montreuil near Paris. Its production of ceramics with pure, two-tone lines and typical of this factory in the 1950s-60s. The vases are in good condition. POSSIBILITY OF SENDING, careful reinforced packaging, registered with signature, insurance and tracking on the internet by its number (flat rate shipping costs).
