Description

Engraved silver goblet, Imperial Russia, 1895
Elegant solid silver goblet finely engraved with stylized floral motifs and an architectural view depicting a church or group of houses, framed with guilloché and geometric borders.
Description The typically Russian decoration is executed with a burin and dotted line, in the spirit of the Moscow and Saint Petersburg silversmiths of the late 19th century. Hallmarks identified under the base: o "84" for the fineness of Russian silver (i.e. 875/1000), o Head of Saint George slaying the dragon facing right: control hallmark of the city of Moscow, o Date letter "1895" indicating the year of inspection, o Initials of the master silversmith "IO C" (?.?.?), attributed to a Moscow workshop active in the 1890s, o Five-pointed star: secondary control mark used at
