Description

I'm not a hunter, but I couldn't contain my enthusiasm when I discovered this presentation box. A box, as if it were an antique compass, all in varnished wood. Then upon opening, a large quantity of lead shot, patiently arranged behind a glass pane, aligned by size. There are a lot of them, but sorry, I didn't count them. References in the margin indicate their caliber. An astonishing object touching on the world of hunting.
