

Garuda Guardian Angel

165 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Bronze

Description

Oh, Garuda isn't beautiful, but that's on purpose, especially since he's supposed to ward off evil spirits... Garuda who flies and watches over you... These Indians are amazing... But doesn't that remind you of your catechism lessons? I remember that? Even in Tintin? There's an allusion to the guardian angel... A bronze object that hovered somewhere above the spirit house.
